2025 Permits & Drilling Update

Toronto, Ontario – March 28, 2025 – CUPANI Metals Corporation (“CUPANI” or the “Company”) (CSE: CUPA) updates shareholders regarding the preparations in advance of 2025 exploration season.

2025 fieldwork will consist mainly of heliborne exploration programs including geological, geochemical and geophysical surveys, as well as the drilling and possibly trenching programs. The company has entered into contract with Kintavar Exploration Inc. for additional staff and for camp operations. Several drilling contractors have been contacted of whom four have submitted bids based upon 4,000 meters initial phase drilling.

Concerning the permit applications required for the upcoming fieldwork, Cupani received last week the approval from the Kativik Regional Government (KRG) for its planned 2025-2026 fieldwork program inclusive of trenching and drilling. This authorization is part of Quebec’s ATI permit process, which is currently in the consultation phase with local communities, including the Naskapi Nation. A meeting between Cupani and the Naskapi representatives occurred in early February as part of the ATI process, in which the planned work was reviewed by all parties.

An application for the forest intervention permit was submitted weeks ago. The ATI and forest intervention permits are expected to be issued in the upcoming weeks. The permits for additional exploration camp sites are also being reviewed by the government, including an application for the lease to acquire the Retty camp.

The exploration work assessment report of 2024 has been completed along with compilation of all historical data available to the company this winter. Past work has been summarized and updated to 2024, which allows the readers an accurate overview of the Blue Lake project. This report will be filed shortly to the MRNF and will be available on SIGÉOM and on Cupani’s website in the next weeks.
