Micromem Issues Update

Toronto, New York, July 8, 2016: Micromem Technologies Inc. (“Micromem”) (“the Company”) (CSE: MRM, OTCQX: MMTIF) through its wholly owned subsidiary Micromem Applied Sensor Technologies Inc. (MAST), announces that our development projects are ongoing and are at various stages of deployment. Our project partners continue to fund the projects and historically these funds have been reported as a recovery of Deferred Development Costs. The ongoing funding of these projects by our partners is a demonstration that we are continuing to meet our development milestones and is a commitment from our partners to advance these projects. Currently, we have no indication that our partners will not complete their commitments. The Company’s expectation is to realize commercial revenues from these projects.

Micromem is subject to newly executed Non- Disclosure Agreements and is currently unable to report specific details of these projects other than to report that these projects are proceeding.
