Autonio, or Automated Nexus of Intelligent Operations, makes cryptocurrency trading readily accessible regardless of skill level. Autonio provides an artificial intelligence (AI) algorithmic trading ecosystem that can be accessed using the NIO token. Automated trading algorithms can be used to take advantage of the high volatility in the cryptocurrency markets, creating additional opportunities for users.

The NIO Suite of products is a foundational toolset that bundles three flagship products for broad consumer use; AutoNIO, an automated trading platform; NIODex, a decentralized exchange; and NIONet, an AI-powered analysis tool.

Autonio Co-founder, Ali Raheman, discussed the partnership with Netcoins, "The entire Autonio team is excited about the partnership with Netcoins as this alliance makes our native token NIO easily accessible to thousands of users. Netcoins shares a similar vision to us and is passionate about building powerful solutions to serve the community."

"The NIO platform has great potential to take advantage of AI for crypto traders," said Netcoins CEO Mark Binns. "The exposure that Netcoins brings to NIO will help them reach adoption goals, while giving our community another coin to invest in and utilize, creating a win-win."

Netcoins is receiving $37,500 USD per year from NIO as a listing fee, paid monthly with 3 months prepaid, on our LAAS (Listing As A Service) business model for coin listings. Netcoins is the first exchange globally, to our knowledge, to launch a recurring fee-based coin listing model.
