

New World Releases Highly Anticipated Geo-Pinning Technology

Toronto, Ontario--(Newsfile Corp. - September 8, 2022) - Graph Blockchain Inc. (CSE: GBLC) (OTC Pink: REGRF) (FSE: RT5A) ("Graph" or the "Company") is pleased to announce that its wholly owned subsidiary, New World Inc. (New World), has released its highly anticipated geo-pinning technology on its web based platform.

The New World community was notified of the updates after a purchaser of one of the most limited Black Access Cards pinned their card near Crystal Beach (Toronto, Canada) for all to see. The ability to geo-pin NFTs will give NFT creators the ability to include localized involvement and participation of their communities in real life and have that built into their respective roadmaps. The ability to collectively show active interest or involvement to specific locations and/or events opens a whole new connection between NFT ownership and real life participation.

"This is a huge step for us at New World as we continue to build on our unique technology," says Andrew El'Lithy, Chief Technical Officer at New World.

"Giving creators the ability to introduce geo-pinning technology into their projects and roadmaps will transform and enhance the value and utility of what they can offer their communities. We're proud that New World can help do that", said Paul Haber, Chief Executive Officer of the Company.
