

Software Magazine ranks Glenbriar as one of the world's top software companies

CALGARY, AB – October 4, 2013 – Glenbriar Technologies Inc. (CNSX: GTI) today announce its inclusion in the 2013 Software Magazine Software 500 ranking of the world's largest software and service providers, now in its 31st year.

"Glenbriar is honoured to be included in this prestigious list," noted Robert Matheson, CEO of Glenbriar.

"The 2013 Software 500 results show that employment in the software and services industry was very healthy, increasing 9.5 percent to total Software 500 company employment of 4,924,121," says John P. Desmond, editor, Software Magazine. "At the same time, overall revenue was up four percent from last year to $672.9 billion."

The Software 500 is a revenue-based ranking of the world's largest software and services suppliers, targeting medium to large enterprises, their IT professionals, software developers, and business managers involved in software and services purchasing. Subscriptions to both the print and digital editions are available at www.softwaremag.com.

The ranking is based on total worldwide software and services revenue for 2012. This includes revenue from software licenses, maintenance and support, training, software-related services, and consulting. Suppliers are not ranked on total corporate revenue, since many have other lines of business, such as hardware. Financial information is gathered by a survey prepared by Rockport Custom Publishing, LLC using public documents and company input. It is published in print as well as posted online at www.softwaremag.com as both a digital edition and searchable database.
