

Relay Medical Congratulates Glow LifeTech Corp. For Its Listing on the CSE Under Ticker "GLOW"

Toronto, Ontario--(Newsfile Corp. - March 15, 2021) - Relay Medical Corp. (CSE: RELA) (OTCQB: RYMDF) (FSE: EIY2) ("Relay" or the "Company") would like to congratulate Glow LifeTech Corp ("Glow") for its recent listing on the Canadian Securities Exchange ("CSE"). Glow commenced trading on the CSE today under the ticker symbol "GLOW".

Relay is a founding shareholder of Glow and recently added to its position by participating in Glow's RTO financing on February 9, 2021, which was oversubscribed at over $5.1 million raised. Glow has benefitted from Relay's infrastructure, technical expertise and business leadership for the research, vetting and product validation of Glow's innovative technology.

Based in Toronto, Glow is a biotechnology company focused on powering the next generation of natural health products with highly effective, science backed natural ingredients. Glow produces nutraceutical and cannabinoid-based products with dramatically enhanced bioavailability, absorption and effectiveness using its groundbreaking, plant-based MyCell™ Technology delivery system.

"Relay is very proud to see Glow achieve this important milestone and become their own public company," said Yoav Raiter, CEO, Relay Medical Corp. "Glow has been relentless in their mission to bring scientifically-validated products to market, and we believe they are well-positioned to disrupt the marketplace with products like their recently announced ArtemiC™ which showed promising clinical trial results with COVID-19 patients."

Glow recently announced it secured exclusive North American and Caribbean sales and distribution rights to ArtemiC™, a natural health product based on Glow's MyCell™ Technology which recently reported successful results from a COVID-19 Phase II clinical trial (see Relay's release dated Jan 14, 2021).
