

AFFINITY METALS WITHDRAWS FROM CARSCALLLEN EXTENSION PROPERTY OPTION AGREEMENT

June 3, 2021

TSX-V:AFF

Vancouver, British Columbia...Affinity Metals Corp. (TSX-V:AFF) (OTCBB:ARIZF) (FRANKFURT: 34IA) (“the Corporation”) (“Affinity”) reports that it has withdrawn from the Carscallen Extension property option agreement and no longer holds any interest in that property.

After a thorough evaluation of initial exploration results as well as observing the latest exploration developments on the neighboring Melkior Resources Carscallen project, and consistent with the Corporation’s Project Generator model and philosophy, Affinity management decided that resources would be better allocated elsewhere rather than incurring forward cash and share payments and conducting additional grass roots exploration at the Carscallen Extension.

About Affinity Metals
