RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

The Company is in the biotechnology business focusing on nutraceutical products and as such is exposed to a number of risks and uncertainties that are not uncommon to other companies in the same business. The Company has no ongoing revenue or income from operations. The Company has limited capital resources and has to rely upon the sale its assets or sale of its common shares for cash required to make new investments and to fund the administration of the Company.

These risks may not be the only risks faced by the Company. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known by the Company or which are presently considered immaterial may also adversely impact the Company's business, results of operations, and financial performance. The most significant risks and uncertainties faced by the Company are (in no specific order) are:

There is expressed doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern, which may hinder our ability to achieve our objectives

The Company's ability to realize the inherent value of its assets is dependent on successfully advancing its technologies to market through product development and ultimately achieving future profitable operations, the outcome of which cannot be predicted at this time, or in the alternative being able to sell the assets for proceeds equal to their carrying value or greater.

We have no committed sources of additional capital. In the future we may need to raise additional capital through equity financings. Additional equity financings could result in significant dilution to shareholders. Funds may not be available to us in the future on favorable terms, if at all, and we may be required to delay, reduce the scope of, or eliminate research and development efforts and the patent protection for our product candidates.

We have not completed the development of any commercial products and have no revenues from the sale of products; we may not achieve profitability

We have not completed the development of any commercial products, and accordingly we have not begun to market or generate revenues from sales of the products we are developing. We do not anticipate that we will generate revenue from the sale of products in the foreseeable future.

There can be no assurance that any of our product candidates will meet applicable health regulatory standards, obtain required regulatory approvals, be capable of being produced in commercial quantities at reasonable costs, be successfully marketed or that the investment made in such product candidates will be recouped through sales or related royalties. There can be no assurance that we will ever achieve profitability. As a result, an investment in our common shares involves a high degree of risk and should be considered only by those persons who can afford a total loss of their investment.

Our products may not gain meaningful market acceptance, and we may not become profitable

We may not be able to contend successfully with competitors. The biotechnology industries are highly competitive and subject to significant and rapid technological change as researchers learn more about diseases and develop new technologies and treatments. Our current and potential competitors generally include major multinational pharmaceutical companies, biopharmaceutical firms, specialty pharmaceutical companies, universities and other research institutions.

Many of our competitors, either alone or together with their collaborators, have substantially greater financial resources and larger research, development and regulatory staffs than ours. There can be no assurance that competitors will not develop more effective or more affordable products or product commercialization than us and our corporate collaborators.

If our product candidates fail to gain market acceptance, we may be unable to earn sufficient revenue to continue our business. If our product does not become widely accepted, it is unlikely that we will ever become profitable.

Our product candidates subject us to the risk of product liability claims for which we may not be able to maintain or obtain adequate insurance coverage

Inherent in the use of our product, is the risk of financial exposure to product liability claims and adverse publicity in the event that the use of such products results in personal injury or death. There can be no assurance that we will not experience losses due to product liability claims in the future.

We may encounter difficulties in manufacturing our products delaying or preventing the development or commercialization of our product candidates

There can be no assurance that our product candidate can be manufactured at a cost or in quantities necessary to make them commercially competitive or even viable. We do not have any manufacturing facilities and we are dependent on third party contract manufacturers and/or collaborators to produce our product. There can be no assurance that such third party manufacturers or collaborators will be able to meet our needs with respect to timing, quantity, quality or pricing. If we are unable to contract for a sufficient supply of product on acceptable terms, or if we should encounter delays or difficulties in our relationships with manufacturers or collaborators, and/or product sales would be delayed, thereby delaying the submission of products for market introduction and subsequent sales of such products.

Our success depends on the management of growth

Our future growth, if any, may cause a significant strain on management, operational, financial and other resources. The failure of our management team to effectively manage growth could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our success depends on our ability to protect our proprietary rights and operate without infringing the proprietary rights of others;

Our success will depend in part on our ability to obtain and enforce patents and maintain trade secrets.

Our commercial success depends significantly on our ability to operate without infringing the patents and proprietary rights of third parties, and there can be no assurance that our products do not or will not infringe on the proprietary rights of others.

Litigation may also be necessary to enforce technology licensed to us or to determine the scope and validity of a third party's proprietary rights. We could incur substantial costs if litigation is required to defend ourselves in such suits.

Certain of the Company's directors and officers may, from time to time, serve in similar positions with other public companies, which may put them in a conflict position from time to time.

Certain of the Company's directors and officers may, from time to time, serve as directors or officers of other companies involved in similar businesses to the Company and, to the extent that such other companies may participate in the same ventures in which the Company may seek to participate, such directors and officers may have a conflict of interest in negotiating and concluding terms respecting the extent of such participation. Such conflicts of the Company's directors and officers may result in a material and adverse effect on the Company's results of operations and financial condition.

Should one or more of these risks and uncertainties materialize, or should underlying assumptions prove incorrect, then actual results may vary materially from those described in forward-looking statements.

CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS

(a) Licensing and Royalty

During the 2007 year, the Company entered into a licensing and royalty memorandum of understanding with the initial developer of the ginseng technology that was being utilized exclusively by the Company for the production of products from ginseng roots. Consideration paid by the Company to obtain the exclusive licensing for the technology included the transfer of all patents previously held by the Company, a cash payment of $10,000, and a royalty of 5% of the invoiced cost of each production run incurred by the Company.

(b) Office Lease

On August 27, 2015, the Company signed the lease agreement with Rocky Mountain Property Management Company ("Rocky Mountain") for the office lease in Vancouver, BC that started on September 1, 2015 and ends on August 31, 2018. The term of the lease is 36 months with a two-year option. For the rental period of two years, the Company is required to pay the annual basic rent and the water / sewer costs.

The Company is expected to make the following minimum lease payments:

For the year ended	Minimum Lease Payments, excluding GST
December 31, 2016	33,096
December 31, 2017	33,096
December 31, 2018	22,064
Total minimum lease payments	$ 88,256

During the six months ended June 30, 2016, the Company paid $14,100 (2015 - $Nil) to Rocky Mountain.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

Risk management overview

The Company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks including credit risk and liquidity risk. This note presents information about the Company's exposure to each of the above risks, the Company's objectives, policies and processes for measuring and managing risk, and the Company's management of capital. Further quantitative disclosures are included throughout these financial statements. The Company employs risk management strategies and policies to ensure that any exposure to risk are in compliance with the Company's business objectives and risk tolerance levels. While the Board has the overall responsibility for the Company's risk management framework, the Company's management has the responsibility to administer and monitor these risks.

Fair values of financial instruments

The fair value of the Company's cash, deposits and accounts payable and accrued liabilities approximate their carrying value due to immediate or short term maturity of these financial instruments.

Financial instruments recorded at fair value on the statements of financial position are classified using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 reflects valuation based on quoted prices observed in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 reflects valuation techniques based on inputs that are quoted prices of similar instruments in active markets; quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are not active; inputs other than quoted prices used in a valuation model that are observable for that instrument; and inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.
- Level 3 reflects valuation techniques with significant unobservable market inputs.

A financial instrument is classified to the lowest level of the hierarchy for which a significant input has been considered in measuring fair value. The financial instrument in the Company's financial statements measured at Level 1 fair value is cash.

Financial instrument risk exposure

The Company's financial instruments expose the Company to certain financial risks, including credit risk, liquidity risk, interest rate risk, foreign currency risk and other price risk.

Credit risk:

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the Company if any counterparty fails to discharge its obligations. Credit risk exists in cash, which is mitigated by the Company holding its cash in major Canadian banking financial institutions and deposits which is held by the property manager of the leased premises.

Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities as they become due. The financial liabilities on the statements of financial position consist of accounts payable and accrued liabilities, which includes $45,000 due to related parties that is not expected to be repaid in the next year. The Company obtained additional financing in the current year through a third party credit facility to manage liquidity risk. The Company entered into a lease agreement for an office that requires monthly payments. Management closely monitors cash flow requirements to ensure that it has sufficient cash on demand to meet operational and financial obligations as they become due.

Capital risk management:

The Company's objectives in managing its capital is to safeguard the Company's assets to be able to continue as a going concern, and to sustain future development of the business.
