Star Navigation Awarded U.S. Patent

TSX Venture Exchange Symbol: SNA

TORONTO, Oct. 18 /CNW/ - Mr. Viraf Kapadia, C.E.O. of Star Navigation Systems Group Ltd. ("Star"), developer of the In-Flight Safety Monitoring System ("ISMS(TM)"), is very pleased to announce that the United States Patent & Trademark Office has just granted it a patent entitled "Systems and Method for Transportation Vehicle Monitoring or Analyzing." Star holds the worldwide aviation license to use and commercially exploit this particular patent, as well as similar patents previously issued by the United Kingdom, Australia, and Hong Kong.

Mr. Kapadia stated:

"This patent is important for Star because it significantly enhances the protection of our In-flight Safety Monitoring System - ISMS (TM) and the proprietary technology behind it. This patent award also confirms Star's intention to vigorously protect the intellectual property rights with respect to both its products, and to its groundbreaking technology."
