

Affinor Growers Ships Its Third Order of Premium Vine-Ripened Strawberries and Expands Distribution

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, April 18, 2022 -- Affinor Growers Inc. ("Affinor" or the "Company") (CSE: AFI; OTCQB: RSSFF) is pleased to announce that it has shipped its second order of vertically grown, vine ripened, Delizzimo strawberries to Four Seasons Farm at the global tourist attraction, Granville Island Public Market. The company has also shipped its first order of strawberries to the IGA on Robson Street in Vancouver. The demand for this premium, sustainable, greenhouse product is increasing as the word spreads throughout the industry. This shows the need and potential for high quality fresh produce sold as an Abbotsford local product through distributor, Berrymobile.

The strawberry harvest, packaging and delivery to local markets represents a successful commercial pilot of Affinor's patented rotating towers (Canada, USA, Colombia, and Aruba), automated systems and processes. The berries were grown in Affinor's 15,000 square foot greenhouse in Abbotsford BC from seedlings over the winter of 2022.

Affinor is in the process of permitting their new proprietary greenhouse, the "Atlantis", which will accommodate growing strawberries, romaine lettuce, kale, and spinach in soil or hydroponic at 8 levels. This is double the current 4-level towers substantially decreasing costs and increasing yield. Affinor plans to offer the most sustainable, automated, turnkey commercial solution reducing water use and using alternative energy, with 40 solar cells currently installed with plans for more and two Tesla Powerwall batteries on order.

Affinor CEO - Nick Brusatore commented: "We're selling out every harvest at premium prices with growing demand. The consensus opinion so far is that our strawberries have superior flavour and texture compared to the industrial farmed, mass-produced strawberry imports. The difference is our sustainable growing processes and technology, as well as the local, vine ripened quality picked and on shelves within hours."
