Naturevan's first rollout of supplement products on Amazon are probiotics, one of the top-selling vitamins on the current Amazon marketplace. With the Company's products being distributed and sold through Amazon U.S., one of the most prominent e-commerce platforms, management foresees significant growth in the business of Naturevan.

Latest reports show that e-commerce will continue to be the most significant driver of retail growth within the U.S., predicting that Amazon will overtake Walmart to become the largest retailer in the U.S by 2024 and add more than $294 billion in U.S. sales between 2021 to 2026. Based on leading sales, experts in the report predict that the top three retailers in the U.S. will be Amazon, Walmart, and Costco, with Amazon leveraging to hold almost 15% of the retail market share in the U.S. compared to its competitors. Additionally, the U.S. eCommerce market will top one trillion by the end of this year. It will account for 30.5% of total retail sales by 2026, up from 24.6% in 2023, coming in as the world's largest eCommerce market after China. "The global e-commerce industry has shown remarkable growth. The Company is thrilled to finally have its Naturevan products on the Amazon platform. Management believes this will expose Naturevan products to a larger scale and bring a great return with significant growth in sales. We look forward to expanding with more products with Amazon very soon", said Andrew Ryu, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Company.
