The Company manages its capital to ensure that the Company will be able to continue as a going concern. The strategy remains unchanged from 2012. The Company raises capital, as necessary, to meet its needs and therefore, does not have a numeric target for its capital structure. There were no changes to the Company's approach to capital management during the year compared to the previous year.

Risk and uncertainties

At present, the Company is insolvent, has no business, no source of operating funds and is dependent on a third party for advances in order to pay its bills as they come due. Should the support of the third party cease, it is unlikely that the Company will continue in business. The Company will have to pursue, either through acquisition or start-up, a new business. There is no guarantee that the Company will be successful in this regard.

Fair value of financial instruments

The fair value of a financial instrument is the estimated amount that the Company would receive or pay to settle a financial asset or financial liability as at the reporting date. The fair values of cash, amounts receivable and accounts payable and accrued liabilities approximate their carrying values due to their nature or capacity for prompt liquidation. The fair values of the Company's financial instruments are estimated based on the amount at which these instruments could be exchanged in a transaction between knowledgeable and willing parties. As these estimates are subjective in nature, involving uncertainties and matter of judgment, they cannot be determined with precision. Changes in assumptions can affect estimated fair values.
