OVERVIEW

McLaren was incorporated on July 13, 1999 under the Business Corporations Act (Ontario). Since that time, the Company has predominantly been engaged in the acquisition, exploration and development of gold properties in Ontario.

MINERAL EXPLORATION PROPERTIES

None of the Company's mineral properties are at or near production. As at June 30, 2018, the Company held the following mineral properties:

Augdome

The Company controls a 100% interest in the 414-hectare Augdome Gold Property located in Tisdale and Whitney Townships in the prolific Timmins Gold District, Northeastern Ontario. The Property is located immediately east of the Dome Mine operated by Goldcorp Canada Ltd. ("Goldcorp"). In 2016, Goldcorp announced an indicated mineral resource of 4.5 million ounces and an inferred mineral resource of 0.9 million ounces on the Dome Mine property in what is now being called the Dome Century Project. The Dome Century Project envisions doubling the size of the footprint of the Dome Open Pit Mine which is situated immediately adjacent to the gold mineralization that was the focus of an eleven-hole, 1,727 metre program recently completed by the Company (see news release dated January 4, 2018).

Blue Quartz / BQ-Extension Properties

On December 6, 2010, McLaren and Orla Mining Ltd. (formerly Red Mile Minerals Corp.) ("Orla") entered into an option agreement whereby McLaren could earn a 50% interest in the Blue Quartz gold property (the "Blue Quartz Property"), with McLaren having the right of first refusal on the remaining 50% interest. McLaren earned a 50% interest in the Blue Quartz Property, with a cash payment of $10,000, and spending $200,000 on exploration and evaluation expenditures ("E&E") on or before September 1, 2011. The Blue Quartz Property consists of 25 patented mining claims located in Beatty Township, Northern Ontario.

During December 2011, the Company completed the $200,000 in E&E and exercised its option to acquire a 50% interest in the Blue Quartz Property which is subject to 1.0% net smelter royalty ("NSR") held by the predecessor companies, Thundermin Resources Inc. and Wesdome Mines Ltd. The Company has the right to purchase 50% of the NSR from the predecessor companies for $250,000. McLaren and Orla agreed to associate on a shared cost basis for further E&E of the Property.

On July 26, 2011, the Company purchased a 100% interest in 8 unpatented claims from 2285944 Ontario Limited (the "BQ-Extension Property") totaling 240 hectares for $68,000.

TimGinn

The Company announced the successful completion of a four-hole, 1,038 metre exploration drill program on its 238-hectare TimGinn Gold Property.

On November 7, 2011, the Company announced that it had signed a Letter of Intent ("LOI") with TimGinn Exploration Limited to earn a 60% interest in a past-producing gold property (the "TimGinn Property") located in Tisdale Township in the heart of the Timmins Gold Camp adjacent to Goldcorp's Hollinger Mine (19.3 million oz) and McIntyre Mine (10.7 million oz). The TimGinn Property consists of 9 mining claims covering 238 hectares. There was brief gold production on the TimGinn Property during the 1920's by Consolidated Gilles Lake Gold Mines when a two compartment shaft was sunk to a depth of 940 feet. The TimGinn Property is unexplored 300 m deep.

On December 7, 2016, the Company announced the signing of an agreement with TimGinn Exploration Limited to renew the TimGinn Property option agreement for a term of five years with an effective start date of January 1, 2017. McLaren can earn a 50% interest in the TimGinn Property by spending $1.4 million over five years.

These circumstances have had an impact on the Company's operations and, in particular, on the economics of its existing exploration and development projects, its strategy to evaluate and, if attractive, complete potential acquisitions and otherwise its ability to pursue growth opportunities.

Financial Instrument Risk Exposures

It is management's opinion that the Company is not exposed to significant interest or credit risks arising from its financial instruments and that their fair values approximate their carrying value unless otherwise noted. Fluctuation in currency exchange rates, have no material impact on the Company's earnings and cash flows.

Risks and Uncertainties

Political Risk

All of the Company's mineral properties are located in Canada. Accordingly, the Company is subject to risks normally associated with exploration for and development of mineral properties in this country. The Company's mineral exploration activities could be affected in varying degrees by political instability, aboriginal land claims and government regulation relating to the mining business. Operations may also be affected in varying degrees by terrorism, military conflict or repression, crime, extreme fluctuations in currency rates and high inflation.

Interest Rate Risk

The Company invests cash surplus to its operational needs in investment-grade short term deposits certificates issued by the bank where it keeps its Canadian bank accounts. The Company periodically assesses the quality of its investments with this bank and is satisfied with the credit rating of the bank and the investment grade of its short term deposits certificates.

Equity Price Risk

Market risk arises from the possibility that changes in market prices will affect the value of the financial instruments of the Company. The Company is exposed to fair value fluctuations on its investments. The Company's other financial instruments (cash and cash equivalents, amounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities) are not subject to price risk.

Liquidity Risk

The Company's approach to managing liquidity risk is to ensure that it will have sufficient liquidity to meet liabilities when due. As at June 30, 2018, the Company had current assets of $713,065 (September 30, 2017 - $482,872) and current liabilities of $40,359 (September 30, 2017 - $84,668). All of the Company's financial liabilities and receivables are subject to normal trade terms. The Company had a current working capital surplus as of June 30, 2018, of $673,246 (September 30, 2017 – $398,204).

Business Risk

There is numerous business risks involved in the mineral exploration industry, some of which are outlined below. The Company may not always own 100% of the mineral claims, concessions, rights or other interests. Similarly, any non-compliance with or non-satisfaction of the terms of an option agreement by the Company could affect its ability to exercise the option and earn its interest in the claims, concessions and assets relating to mineral properties. Mining claims, concessions or other interests may not include surface rights and there can be no assurance that the Company will be successful in negotiating long-term surface rights access agreements in respect of the properties. Failure to obtain surface rights could have an adverse impact on the Company's future operations.

The Company's current or future operations, including development activities, are subject to environmental regulations which may make operations not economically viable or prohibit them altogether. The success of the operations and activities of the Company is dependent to a significant extent on the efforts and abilities of its management, outside contractors, experts and other advisors. Investors must be willing to rely to a significant degree on management's discretion and judgment, as well as the expertise and competence of the outside contractors, experts and other advisors. The Company does not have a formal program in place for succession of management and training of management. The loss of one or more of the key employees or contractors, if not replaced on a timely basis, could adversely affect the Company's operations and financial performance.

Foreign Currency Risk

The Company's exploration and evaluation activities are substantially denominated in Canadian dollars. The Company's funds are kept in Canadian dollars, with a major Canadian financial institution.

Commodity Price Risk

The price of the common shares in the capital the Company, its financial results, exploration and evaluation activities have been, or may in the future be, adversely affected by declines in the price of gold and/or other metals. Gold prices fluctuate widely and are affected by numerous factors beyond the Company's control, such as the sale or purchase of commodities by various central banks, financial institutions, expectations of inflation or deflation, currency exchange fluctuations, interest rates, global or regional consumptive patterns, international supply and demand, speculative activities and increased production due to new mine developments, improved mining and production methods and international economic and political trends. The Company's revenues, if any, are expected to be in large part derived from mining and sale of precious and base metals or interests in properties related thereto. The effect of these factors on the price of precious and base metals, and therefore the economic viability of any of the Company's exploration projects, cannot accurately be predicted.

Environmental and Permitting

All aspects of the Company’s operations are subject to environmental regulation in the various jurisdictions in which it operates. These regulations, among other things, mandate the maintenance of air and water quality standards, land reclamation, transportation, storage and disposal of hazardous waste. Environmental legislation is evolving in a manner which will require stricter standards and enforcement, increased fines and penalties for non-compliance, more stringent environmental assessments of proposed projects and a heightened degree of responsibility for companies and their officers, directors, and employees. There is no assurance that future changes in environmental regulation, if any, will not adversely affect the Company’s operations.

Additional Capital

The exploration activities of the Company may require substantial additional financing. Failure to obtain sufficient financing may result in delaying or indefinite postponement of exploration and development of any of the Company’s properties. There can be no assurance that additional capital or other types of financing will be available if needed or that, if available, the terms of such financings will be favourable to the Company. In addition, low commodity prices may affect the Company’s ability to obtain financing.

Acquisition

The Company uses its best judgment to acquire mining properties for exploration and development. In pursuit of such opportunities, the Company may fail to select appropriate acquisition candidates or negotiate acceptable agreements, including arrangements to finance the acquisitions and development, or integrate such opportunity and their personnel with the Company. The Company cannot assure that it can complete any acquisition that it pursues or is currently pursuing, on favourable terms, or that any acquisition completed will ultimately benefit the Company.

Segregation of duties

Segregation of duties is a basic, key internal control and one of the most difficult to achieve in a small company. It is used to ensure that errors or irregularities are prevented or detected on a timely basis by employees in the normal course of business. Due to the Company’s small size and limited resources, a complete segregation of duties within the Company’s accounting group cannot be fully achieved. The result is that the Company is highly reliant on the performance of mitigating procedures during the process of closing its financial statements in order to ensure the financial statements are presented fairly in all material respects. Management will identify and hire additional accounting resources where cost effective and when required. Where it is not cost effective to obtain additional accounting resources, management will review existing mitigating controls and, if appropriate, implement changes to its internal control processes whereby more effective mitigating controls will be adopted.

Competition

The mining industry is intensely competitive in all of its phases, and the Company competes with many companies possessing greater financial resources and technical facilities than the Company. Competition in the mining business could adversely affect the Company's ability to acquire suitable producing properties or prospectus for mineral exploration in the future.

Reliance on Management

The success of the Company depends to a large extent upon its abilities to retain the services of its senior management and key personnel. The loss of the services of any of these persons could have a materially adverse effect on the Company's business and prospects. There is no assurance the Company can maintain the services of its directors, officers or other qualified personnel required to operate is business. Internal controls over financial reporting are procedures designed to provide reasonable assurance that transactions are properly authorized, assets are safeguarded against unauthorized or improper use, and transactions are properly recorded and reported. A control system, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, not absolute, assurance with respect to the reliability of financial reporting and financial statement preparation.
