Item 5: Full Description of Material Change

The Company announced that it has entered into an option agreement (the “Agreement”) with Allegiant to acquire up to 70% interest in the Clanton Hills silver project in Arizona.

The Clanton Hills silver target was discovered by the legendary John Livermore while prospecting for gold, and was eventually staked by his partner Andy Wallace for Allegiant, while operating under their renowned Livermore-Wallace partnership known as Cordex Exploration. Livermore is credited with the first Carlin-Type gold discovery. The find transformed the gold mining industry in the United States and the world, and Carlin-type deposits have since produced over 100 million ounces of gold in Nevada. After discovering the Carlin Mine, Livermore founded Cordex and discovered 4 more gold deposits in Nevada that advanced to producing gold mines. Andy Wallace discovered 5 producing gold mines in Nevada, under the Cordex partnership with Livermore, including the 5-million-ounce Marigold Mine, and the 12 million-ounce Stonehouse/Lone Tree Mine.

Allegiant’s business model is focused on the advancement of Eastside, their flagship development gold project, with the aim of farming-out the other projects held in their portfolio. Under the Agreement with Allegiant, the Company can acquire up to a 70% interest (subject to a 2% NSR royalty) in Clanton Hills by issuing Allegiant two million common shares upon TSX Venture Exchange (“TSXV”) approval, making additional subsequent payments of cash and common shares totaling US$550,000, and incurring exploration expenditures of US$1,500,000 over a three-year period (the “Transaction”).

The Transaction was approved by the TSXV on September 15, 2020 and the Company issued the common shares to Allegiant on September 16, 2020.
