

Quinsam Issues Q4/2018 Update

NOT FOR DISSEMINATION IN THE UNITED STATES OR FOR DISTRIBUTION BY ANY UNITED STATES NEWS DISTRIBUTION SERVICE

TORONTO, Dec. 07, 2018 -- Quinsam Capital Corporation (CSE:QCA) ("Quinsam" or the "Company") is pleased to provide an update to its investors in light of recent declines in the share prices of many cannabis companies.

"There has been across-the-board weakness in cannabis share prices in recent weeks," said Roger Dent, CEO of Quinsam. "We think that the weakness has been caused by a number of factors. In some cases, shares were likely overvalued. We have also seen an impact from buyer exhaustion due to the very large number of new issues and tax-loss selling. We have seen some disappointments in operational results and we have seen an impact from the short-sell report on Aphria Inc. All in all, it has been a pretty tough environment in the sector."

"While the stock market has cooled, in our opinion the secular growth opportunity in cannabis remains intact. We remain strong believers in the sector and continue to find opportunities that we think are very attractive. Lower share prices improve the outlook for future performance."

Quinsam has been increasingly pleased with its decisions to exit many names over the last few months. Quinsam announced a number of divestitures in its press release of October 24, 2018. Since that date, we made additional divestitures including our remaining shares in GTEC, C21, Next Green Wave and Biome. We completed the sale of all of our Planet13 Holdings shares following our warrant exercise. We also took profits in Green Growth Brands.

While we have taken profits in a large number of names over the last six months, we have added to two of our Canadian ACMPR holdings: Ndiva and Eve & Co. "In both cases, we see them as sound businesses with attractive valuations and the prospect of near term cash flow generation," said Roger Dent. "In the universe of publicly-traded Canadian ACMPR operators, these two together with Sproutly are currently the most interesting opportunities we see." Quinsam continues to focus most of its new investments on opportunities outside of Canada.

Largely due to delays brought on by the large volume of new issue activity and associated backlogs with listing applications, some of the liquidity events that we highlighted in our press release of October 2, 2018 have been deferred. However, at this time we currently expect all of these liquidity events to proceed in either Q4/2018 or Q1/2019. "We expect Quinsam to see a solid number of liquidity events in Q1/2019," said Roger Dent.

"Given that our results depend on future market activity, we do not forecast our performance. However, we can say that at present we expect our investments to strongly outperform the cannabis sector in Q4/2018. We note that our quarter-to-date includes some large wins including Acreage, Xanthic/Green Growth Brands and Cannamerica. At the same time, we have seen some of our winners give back part of their gains, including Sproutly and Rocky Mountain. Regardless of the Q4 result, our shares trade at a strong discount to our net asset value and our issuer bid has been an active buyer, with 570,000 shares purchased in November 2018," said Roger Dent.
