

Contact World to Offer Vaccine Passport and Verification Platform to Employers, Events and Organizations, Including Customers of Recently Acquired HealthCheck App

HealthCheck app provides an ideal technology environment for combined symptom screening, vaccine passport and verification

- Contact World intends to offer existing and new customers integrated tools for vaccine passport and verification.
- Vaccine passports critical as Delta variant of COVID-19 rages through U.S. and global populations, alongside employers and organizations instituting vaccination mandates with full FDA approval of Pfizer BioNTech Vaccine.
- Vaccine passport verification is critical to combat increased fraud and reduce liability – Contact World to deliver passport verification solution to ensure accuracy and prevent use of fraudulent vaccine records.
- Contact World recently acquired cash flow positive HealthCheck – a health screening tool to assess COVID-19 symptoms quickly and easily via the HealthCheck app – featuring 1,000+ locations in use.
- News that the Pfizer BioNTech vaccine loses efficacy faster against Delta variant¹ suggests a recurring need for boosters, vaccine passports, and health screening for years to come.

Vancouver, BC, August 25, 2021 – Contact World Technologies Corp. (CSE:HELP) (OTC:TLOOF) (FSE:B2IO) (the “Company” or “Contact World”), a SaaS company committed to improving health equity and access to healthcare while solving sector specific business challenges, today announced it will leverage the recently acquired HealthCheck app to help combat fraud in vaccine credentials and enable privacy-preserving vaccine passports.

COVID-19 vaccination records, when digitized, are frequently termed a “COVID-19 Vaccine Passport”, “Health Pass”, or “Vaccine Pass”. Vaccine passports allow an organization to confirm an individual’s vaccination status without the administrative burdens associated with paper cards. They also help reduce the potential fraud associated with certain paper vaccine credentials. When paired with HealthCheck’s health screening in the same app, vaccine passports allow an organization to conduct daily health check-ins and validate vaccine credentials without violating personal privacy.

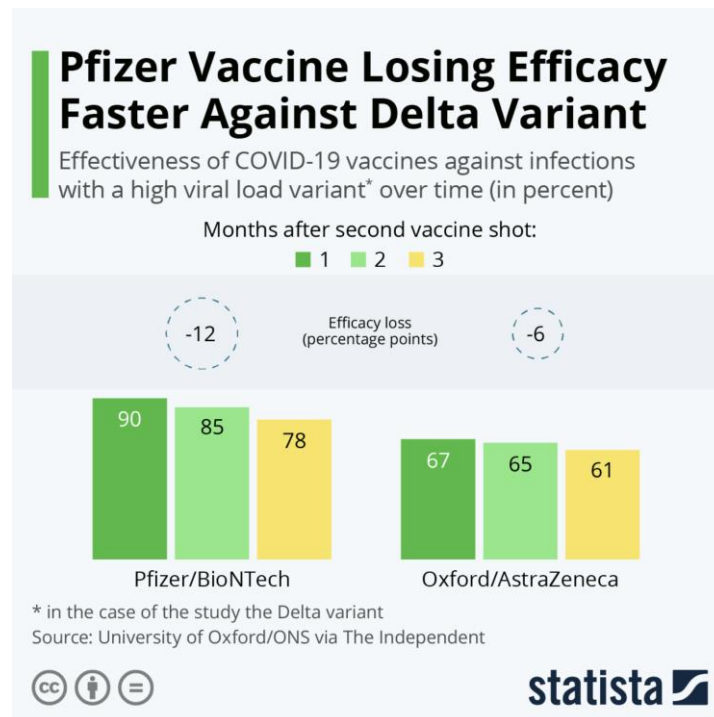

While some states and jurisdictions have implemented Vaccine passport technology, backed by state and government vaccination records, many have not. There still is no universal solution that works across jurisdictions. Vaccine Passport verification and validation is essential for effective rollout of vaccine mandates by private business. Contact World’s vaccine validation solution intends to leverage a number of disparate data sources to ensure validity of vaccination records beyond paper records.

HealthCheck is already used by a variety of customers, including schools, hospitals, fire stations, financial institutions, and small businesses. Justin Beck, Chief Visionary Officer for Kontakt World, stated “in addition to HealthCheck’s daily health check-ins, organizations will soon be able to use HealthCheck as a Vaccine Passport solution for students, teachers, customers, visitors and employees without violating personal privacy. We’re working with several solution providers to enable this – we expect this will result in increased sales from existing customers, and expanded sales to new customers.”

Mr. Beck added, “a close friend of mine in Oceanside, California recently shared with me the story of a small restaurant with not more than 20 employees and the drama surrounding vaccination and the need for vaccine passports experienced by her manager. One employee purported to have received two Johnson & Johnson vaccine doses in a 30-day period using what appeared to be a fraudulent ‘card,’ where the Johnson & Johnson vaccine is generally a single dose vaccine. Another refused to get vaccinated and refused to wear a mask. We cannot underestimate the ongoing effects on employee and customer wellness, nor the implications upon economies that vaccine passports will play, for years and years to come.”

“A British study from University of Oxford/ONS recently reported via The Independent suggesting a gradual decrease in efficacy for the Pfizer against the delta variant of COVID-19 in the months immediately after receiving the vaccine. This confirms that vaccinated populations will need boosters, so effective health screening provided by Kontakt World’s solutions and vaccine passports (with updates to ensure they are current) are vital to global economies. Data from the study doesn’t even factor the implications of other variants” Mr. Beck continued.
