Compodium Selects Hydro66 for Colocation Data Center Services

Boden, Sweden, February 11, 2019 - HYDRO66 HOLDINGS CORP. ("Hydro66" or the "Company") (CSE:SIX) (OTCQB: HYHDF) is pleased to announce the signing of its newest client, Compodium International AB ("Compodium"). Compodium, which delivers mission critical secure encrypted video communication services to global medical and public service agencies, will retain Hydro66 to provide secure data center colocation services with a 100% uptime service level agreement.

Compodium Founder and CEO Bengt Grahn explained why they had chosen to entrust vital parts of their service platform to Hydro66: "We are operating vital mission critical services for our global high-profile clients such as the United Nations and Husqvarna, so uptime, reliability and security of our platform is uppermost. Hydro66 provides more depth and strength in all these areas than we can achieve ourselves and their services allow us to focus on adding value to our clients. We are really looking forward to the development of our partnership."

Bengt Grahn, CEO of Compodium and Anne Graf, CEO of Hydro66

Anne Graf, CEO, Hydro66 commented: "Hydro66 are delighted to secure a long-term contract with an innovative Swedish company like Compodium. They share our values of ethical IT and it is a natural fit for them to place their data and services in a responsible colocation data center using 100% renewable energy. This fits well with their carbon reducing technology allowing vital communications to take place globally without the travel overhead. Compodium is a logical choice for us and we welcome them to the Hydro66 family."

Hydro66 will work closely to deliver managed colocation data center services to Compodium in an exclusive contract. Key features include 24/7 physical security, guaranteed power and network availability and temperature and humidity guarantees.

About Compodium

Compodium's mission is to deliver reliable solutions for effective online collaboration to organizations, businesses and governments. As organizations strive to meet efficiency requirements on strained budgets and people everywhere are becoming increasingly aware of the environmental impact of travel, travel-free meetings present a better and more logical alternative. We now understand how networked solutions contribute to effective collaboration and higher productivity. While politicians demand sustainable practices and more efficient use of taxpayer money, and corporations work with these issues as a matter of strategy, Compodium can draw from twenty years of experience and present a solution that works—today. We know how to create a meeting culture that agrees with both people and the environment. We are accredited with the EU and UN, and have a framework agreement for service delivery to all Swedish counties and municipalities, beyond our over 200 individual clients.
