Lifestyle Delivery Systems Passes Fire Department Inspection

Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, September 15, 2017, Lifestyle Delivery Systems Inc. (CSE: LDS), (OTCQB: LDSYF) and (Frankfurt: LD6, WKN: A14XHT) (“LDS” or the “Company”) announces that on September 8, 2017 the Company submitted a second request with the fire department of San Bernardino County to inspect the manufacturing facility of the CSPA Group Inc. The inspection was scheduled for Wednesday, September 13, 2017, and was completed. On September 14, 2017, the Company was notified that the laboratory and manufacturing facility had successfully passed the inspection and was approved for submission of a request for a Certificate of Occupancy (“COO”) with the City of Adelanto Building Department.

Brad Eckenweiler, CEO of LDS, stated, “This inspection and subsequent approval of the facility in Adelanto, California has been long anticipated. The Company receiving its approval from the San Bernardino County Fire Department represents the final step before the COO for manufacturing and extraction operations can be issued by the City of Adelanto. Even with the delay, we believe the September target to commence manufacturing operations is reasonable”. The Company intends to post on its website the images of non-proprietary areas of the extraction laboratory section of the facility upon receiving its COO.

About Lifestyle Delivery Systems Inc.

The Company’s technology produces infused strips (similar to breath strips) that are not only a safer, healthier option to smoking, but also a new way to accurately meter the dosage and assure the purity of the product. In addition, with the entering into its management services agreements with NHMC, Inc. and CSPA Group, Inc., the Company has begun its foray into being directly involved in the growing of medicinal ingredients for, and the manufacturing of, its products. From seed to sale, the Company’s products and ingredients will be tested for quality and composition throughout the formulation and production processes, resulting in a delivery system that is safe, consistent and effective.
