Northern Lights Resources drops Misty Creek Property Option

Vancouver, Canada, April 30, 2013, Northern Lights Resources (or the “Company”) (CNSX: NLE) reports that it has terminated its option to earn a 100% interest in the Misty Creek Property

As a consequence of current market conditions affecting junior exploration companies, the Company has been unsuccessful in securing financing at prices which would not otherwise lead to severe dilution to existing shareholders. Further, the fact that the property is in the Northwest Territories with mineral exploration performed over a very short exploration period, was also a major factor.

The Company feels it appropriate to look for a property with more prior exploration activity and situated in a more southern Northern American location to create new shareholder value.

Thank you
