Organic Potash Corporation Provides Update on Convertible Debentures, Financing and Operations

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 9, 2015

Toronto, Ontario, July 9th, 2015 – Organic Potash Corporation (CSE: OPC) (“OPC” or the “Corporation”) wishes to provide an update on its Convertible Debentures, Financing and Operations.

OPC wishes to announce that it is necessary to renegotiate the Convertible Debenture which came due on May 31, 2015. Unfortunately investors, who executed subscription agreements in July, 2014, have failed to advance funds. The Board has received and continues to receive ongoing assurances that funding will be completed.

In light of the delays and in order to reduce costs, OPC has suspended activity at the existing R & D facility in Ghana has laid off all employees and continues efforts to procure financing to facilitate the completion of the small commercial plant in Ghana.

Heather Welner CEO and Chairman said “We greatly appreciate the patience of both our debenture holders and shareholders. We expected to be in full commercial production by now, but the delay in funding has caused the company’s business to be put on hold, pending either receipt of funds or arranging for alternative financing. We are currently engaged with a number of potential investment groups.”
