Vogogo mined a total of 1,056 Bitcoin in the three months ended March 31, 2019, at an average price per Bitcoin for the quarter of $5,054. The Company achieved an Adjusted EBITDA¹ of $0.9 million, or $0.07 per outstanding share, resulting in an Adjusted EBITDA Margin¹ of 17% for the three months ending March 31, 2019. The Company’s cost of revenue, which includes electricity cost, contractors’ fees and general facility operating costs, but excludes non-cash depreciation of mining and infrastructure equipment, resulted in an average cost per Bitcoin mined of $3,712, a decrease of $974 or 21% from $4,686 for the three months ended December 31, 2018. The decrease in the cost of mining a Bitcoin is attributable to the adoption of IFRS 16 Leases which classifies the present value of lease payments as depreciation expense against right-of-use assets. The cash amount of lease obligations related to mining was $490,000 which would account for an increase in site operating costs of $132 per coin. A decrease in the average Bitcoin network difficulty of approximately 9% from the previous quarter increased the number of Bitcoin mined by the Company and consequently reduced the cost per Bitcoin mined.

The Company reported a net loss of $3.1 million for quarter on revenue of $5.3 million, compared to a loss of $0.2 million and revenue of nil in the same quarter of the prior year.

The financial statements for the three months ended March 31, 2019 and the related management’s discussion and analysis (“MD&A”) are available on Vogogo’s SEDAR profile at www.sedar.com.
