

Toronto, Ontario / TheNewswire / May 14, 2018 - Blox Labs Inc. (“BLOX” or “the Company”) (CSE: BLOX) (Frankfurt: BR1B) is pleased to announce that, effective immediately, certain major shareholders have entered into voluntary pooling agreements representing 6,200,000 shares of the Company. These voluntarily pooled shares represent approximately 25% of the issued and outstanding share capitalization of the Company. The terms of the pooling agreement will restrict resale of the shares for a period of 18 months effective May 08, 2018. There will be no shares released in any tranches whatsoever during the 18-month period. In addition to the voluntarily pooled shares as noted above, under regulatory order, 6,166,438 shares of the Company that are held by the previous CEO have been subject to mandatory trading restriction for a period of 60 months effective as of May 07, 2018. These additionally restricted shares represent a further 25% of the issued and outstanding share capitalization of the Company. As a result of the foregoing, a total of approximately 50% of the currently issued and outstanding share capitalization of the Company has been restricted from trading for between 18 to 60 months.

Jeff Zanini, President & CEO states, “We are very pleased about this significant voluntary share lock-up which demonstrates a tremendous amount of confidence by our key shareholder group. The lock-up agreement allows BLOX to steadily grow our shareholder base while focussing on best-in-class execution of our strategic initiatives and growth plans.”
