

Cloud Nine Recruits Boris Mann to position of Chief Technology Officer

Vancouver, B.C. – (September 12, 2016) Cloud Nine Education Group Ltd. (the “Company” or “Cloud Nine”) is pleased to announce that it has recruited Boris Mann to act as its Chief Technology Officer. Mr. Mann brings considerable experience to the Company following his work at Full Stack Ventures and Human Experience Research Corporation.

The position will primarily focus on leveraging scalable technology platforms to support the Company’s cutting edge digital ESL curriculum. Additionally, Mr. Mann will be exploring a mobile-optimized approach to support ESL curriculum direct to student phones and tablets.

Company CEO, Michael Hunter, stated, “We are very pleased to have Boris join the team at Cloud Nine. His past experience and understanding of available technologies will help to ensure the delivery of our Cloud Nine ESL Program meets the needs of our clients going forward, and keep us positioned as an industry leader in digital education.”

About Cloud Nine

Cloud Nine is a Canadian company that specializes in the development and delivery its cutting edge Cloud Nine ESL Program, and operates an accredited ESL school in Vancouver. The Company’s proprietary curriculum is technologically advanced and replaces traditional textbooks with tablets, instructional videos and internet links which students use to supplement their in-class studies. Cloud Nine is currently completing an IPO through Mackie Research Capital Corp having filed its final prospectus on SEDAR. Following a successful financing, the Company plans to list on the CSE and trade under the CNI symbol which has been reserved.

For more information regarding Cloud Nine, please contact:

Michael Hunter
President and Chief Executive Officer
Telephone: +1.604.377.5572
mhunter@c9eq.com

The Company seeks safe harbor from any information provided in this News Release.