

NetCents Technology Appoints Anthony Ribas as Strategic Business Advisor

VANCOUVER, July 16, 2018 /CNW/ - NetCents Technology Inc. ("NetCents" or the "Company") (CSE: NC / Frankfurt: 26N). NetCents continues to grow its team with the addition of Anthony Ribas as a Strategic Business Advisor.

Anthony brings 20-years of experience in the payments space to the growing NetCents team. Over his career, Anthony has focused on working with both seasoned companies and start-ups with their product development, distribution, and revenue strategies. Anthony has worked for and consulted with POS terminal manufacturers, payment gateways, mobile POS software, and independent sales organizations.

"Digital Currency adoption and usage continues to expand globally and I'm excited to start working with an innovator in the space," stated Anthony Ribas. "The NetCents team, technology, products, and services simplify digital currency purchases between consumers and merchants the way credit and debit cards have worldwide"

Together with the NetCents executive team, Anthony will advise and form strategic revenue driving alliances to expand NetCents merchant adoption in North America and the Caribbean markets. His core focus is developing licensing and reseller programs with payment technology providers and strategic industry alliances. Anthony will contribute his payment industry experience, business network to expand NetCents' partner base that grow and compliment NetCents' merchant transaction initiatives.

"Given the growing interest and demand in our product, we're continuing to build our team," stated Clayton Moore, CEO of NetCents Technology. "Anthony's deep industry experience, coupled with his network and connections, make him a perfect fit to our team to help grow our brand and merchant network."
