

Perk Labs Receives Notice of Allowance for U.S. Patent Application for Anti-Fraud Technology

Vancouver, Canada / February 22, 2023 / Perk Labs Inc. (CSE: PERK / OTCQB: PKLBF / FKT: PKLB) ("Perk" or the "Company"), the parent company of Perk Hero, the company helping businesses transition to the digital economy, today announced it has received a notice of allowance for a United States patent application directed at systems and methods for electronic payments with fraud prevention based on correlating transaction data and information from a user's device.

"As a technology-driven company, intellectual property protection is paramount to our success, and we're delighted to receive a notice of allowance for our anti-fraud technology patent application. This recognition not only validates our innovation and leadership in the mobile payment industry but also strengthens our position in protecting our valuable intellectual property" said Jonathan Hoyles, CEO of Perk Labs. "We've placed security and anti-fraud as our highest priority and remain committed to investing in research and development and advancing our technology to deliver secure and seamless payment solutions to our customers."

Perk Labs also holds a U.S. and Canadian patent for enabling the payments of invoices and bills using a mobile device and has the following patent applications pending:

- Canadian patent application pending for the anti-fraud invention referenced above.
- Canadian patent pending for an invention directed at wireless electronic transactions.
- U.S., Australia, and Canada patent applications directed to a method, system, and computer readable medium for transferring cryptographic tokens.
