Chemesis has an increase in production levels and efficiencies while seeing a major reduction in cultivation costs. Along with domestic production, the Company is continuing to expand operations for international distribution of hemp-based CBD products.

“Installing VividGro systems has allowed the Company to directly add shareholder value in many ways,” said Chief Executive Officer, Edgar Montero. “Natural Ventures was able to reduce costs, add property value and increase consistency, quality, (take out comma) and grow space. Chemesis will continue to add shareholder value by providing high-quality products to consumers through our advanced manufacturing processes and practices.”
