(1) this being a Corporation without operations or investments, there are no revenues from operations or investments;

Loss for the quarter ended March 31, 2019

Losses for three months ended March 31, 2019 (“Q119”) are comparable with losses of $9,966 during the three months ended March 31, 2018 (“Q118”), and consist primarily of stable operating expenses. Losses of $31,890 in the three months ended December 31, 2018 (“Q418”) consist primarily of legal fees of $20,720 in connection to the Amalgamation Agreement, while the remaining loss items in Q418 total $11,170. Losses of $58,811 in the three months ended September 30, 2017 (“Q317”) were significantly higher than the comparable quarters, incurred in order to establish the Corporation and to draft and enact the plan of arrangement, through which the Corporation was distributed from Anacott’s ownership to the shareholders of Anacott. The largest cost in Q317 was for legal expenses at $45,000, with legal costs in Q119 totalling $nil.

Cash flows for the quarter ended March 31, 2019

During the quarter ended March 31, 2019, the Corporation remained cashflow neutral as $10,000 in cash collected in relation to the amalgamation agreement was applied to operating expenses, for a minimal overall decrease in cash of $57 during Q119. During the quarter ended March 31, 2018, the Corporation’s operating activities were cashflow neutral, as the Corporation did not have cash to pay its payables. Any expenses caused an increase in payables. A small amount of cash was raised through the sale of common shares, and was used to reduce payables.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The Corporation had a working capital[1] deficit of $133,752 as of March 31, 2019 (December 31, 2018: deficit of $124,867). The Corporation does not have revenues from operations, and relies on outside funding for its continuing financial liquidity. The Corporation will need additional financing in order to continue operations.

Management cautions that the Corporation's ability to raise additional funding is not certain. Additional funds will be required in order to pursue the Corporation's current business plans. An inability to raise additional funds would adversely impact the future assessment of the Corporation as a going concern.

CHANGES IN ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Accounting policies used in the quarter are as set out in the Corporation's audited annual financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2018, with the adoption of updated policies to comply with evolving International Financial Reporting Standards, which are described in note 2 of the condensed interim consolidated financial statements for the quarter ended March 31, 2019.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Corporation's financial instruments consist of cash, receivables, accounts payable and accrued liabilities. It is management's opinion that the Corporation is not exposed to significant interest risk arising from the financial instruments. The Corporation is exposed to credit risk in relation to the receivables balances, however, most receivables are in relation to sales tax due from the Canadian government. Credit risk is managed for receivables by seeking prompt payment, monitoring the age of receivables, and making follow up inquiries when receivables are not paid in a timely manner. The Corporation does not engage in any hedging activities. Financial instruments do not generally expose the Corporation to risk that is significant enough to warrant reducing via purchasing specific insurance or offsetting financial instruments. Further discussion of these risks is presented in Note 3 of the Corporation's condensed interim consolidated financial statements, for the period ended March 31, 2019.

[1] Working capital, a non-GAAP-measure is defined as current assets net of current liabilities.

RISK FACTORS AND MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Risk Factors

Early-stage entities face a variety of risks and, while unable to eliminate all of them, the Corporation aims to manage and reduce such risks as much as possible. The Corporation's ability to mitigate risk, without any cash at its disposal, is, however, extremely limited.

Selecting investments is a competitive process. The Corporation seeks to maintain an appropriate balance by carefully considering risks to ensure an investment's level of risk is commensurate with the Corporation's assessment of the project's potential.

The Corporation has a limited history of existence. There can be no assurance that it will be successful in its quest to find, acquire and finance a suitable business or project. Equity or debt financing will be required to complete the implementation of its business plan. There can be no assurance that the Corporation will be able to obtain adequate financing to continue. The securities of the Corporation should be considered a highly speculative investment.

The following risk factors should be given special consideration when evaluating an investment in any of the Corporation's securities:

a) the Corporation has had no profitable business activity;

b) the Corporation does not have a history of earnings, nor has it paid any dividends and will not generate earnings or pay dividends in the foreseeable future;

c) the Corporation has only limited funds with which to continue supporting operations, or alternatively with which to identify and evaluate other potential opportunities and there can be no assurance that the Corporation will be able to realize either of these goals;

d) the business or project may be financed in all or part by the issuance of additional securities by the Corporation and this may result in further dilution to the investor, which dilution may be significant and which may also result in a change of control of the Corporation;

e) there can be no assurance that an active and liquid market for the common shares will develop and an investor may find it difficult to resell its common shares; and

f) if the Corporation fails to complete the acquisition of a suitable business or project, an interim cease trade order may be issued against the Corporation’s securities by an applicable securities commission.

OFF BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTS

The Corporation has not entered into any off-balance sheet arrangements.
