

CLS Holdings USA, Inc. Manufacturing Arm Sees Strong Movement of New Products, Continues Toll Processing Transactions

LAS VEGAS, NV / ACCESSWIRE / February 23, 2021 / CLS Holdings USA, Inc. (OTCQB:CLSH)(CSE:CLSH), the "Company" or "CLS", a diversified cannabis company operating as Cannabis Life Sciences, today announced the continued growth of operations at its North Las Vegas extraction facility. Through its branded product subsidiary, City Trees, the Company has seen significant movement of its new products with the addition of 25 SKUs to its wholesale menus at the end of January. The Company has also now completed toll processing transactions with several multi-state cannabis producers under its new Trichome Harvest Company division.

City Trees, whose current market penetration in Nevada is over 70%, continued growing its product catalog with 5 additional blends made available to consumers in the first week of February 2021. Prior to this release, the brand produced 9 varieties of distillate, available in cartridges, vape pens, and syringes. Since the addition of these new products to City Trees' wholesale menus this month, the brand has sold 11,378 units of these items into dispensaries across Nevada as of February 17. The addition of these new products has accelerated the growth of the brand and positions City Trees as a leading innovator in the industry.

Alongside these new product releases, City Trees also unveiled its new toll processing division, Trichome Harvest Company, in January. This division has now completed services for several multi-state operators, including the production of ethanol-extracted cannabis distillate and hydrocarbon extracted concentrate products at a higher level of quality and consistency. As City Trees products continue to gain prestige in the marketplace, the Company anticipates that additional partners will express interest in utilizing its state-of-the-art facility.

Forward Looking Statements

This press release contains certain "forward-looking information" within the meaning of applicable Canadian securities legislation and "forward-looking statements" as that term is defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (collectively, the "forward-looking statements"). These statements relate to, among other things, the impact of the COVID-19 virus on our business, the results of our initiatives to retain our employees and strengthen our relationships with our customers and community during the pandemic, the effect of our initiatives to expand market share and achieve growth during and following the pandemic, results of operations and financial performance, anticipated future events, and the effectiveness of our business practices during the pandemic. The continued spread of COVID-19 could have, and in some cases already has had, an adverse impact on our business, operations and financial results, including through disruptions in our cultivation and processing activities, supply chains and sales channels, and retail dispensary operations as well as a deterioration of general economic conditions including a possible national or global recession. Due to the speed with which the COVID-19 situation is developing and the uncertainty of its magnitude, outcome and duration, it is not possible to estimate its impact on our business, operations or financial results; however, the impact could be material. In some cases, you can identify forward looking statements by terminology such as "may," "might," "will," "should," "intends," "expects," "plans," "goals," "projects," "anticipates," "believes," "estimates," "predicts," "potential," or "continue" or the negative of these terms or other comparable terminology. These forward-looking statements are only predictions, are uncertain and involve substantial known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors which may cause our actual results, levels of activity or performance to be materially different from any future results, levels of activity or performance expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. We cannot guarantee future results, levels of activity or performance. You should not place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date that they were made. These cautionary statements should be considered together with any written or oral forward-looking statements that we may issue in the future. Except as required by applicable law, we do not intend to update any of the forward-looking statements to conform these statements to reflect actual results, later events or circumstances or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.
