Response to the Pandemic Pause

When the COVID-19 pandemic spread in the United States, Nevada, and notably Las Vegas, was one of the hardest hit communities in the nation. With an economy primarily driven by entertainment and tourism, Las Vegas was struck by record unemployment and economic hardship, causing many businesses to either close their doors or find unique modes of service and promotions to drive local consumers. CLS' Nevada subsidiaries, while certainly impacted by this sudden shift, were well positioned for this challenge through their already-developed focus on local consumers. In spite of the costs associated with retrofitting existing facilities to comply with state and local ordinances related to COVID-19, including $54,213 over the course of the third quarter, the Company maintained strong growth year-over-year. Staffing at CLS subsidiaries also remained stable, and the Company has retained these levels throughout the fiscal year.

"That we have achieved all of this during a pandemic which resulted in a complete shutdown of travel and tourism, as well as massive unemployment, is amazing, and with all of the things that make Vegas famous coming back, we think, looking ahead, that the future is really bright" said Company President & COO Andrew Glashow.

In Good Health Lawsuit Update

On February 27, 2021, In Good Health notified the Company that it did not plan to make further payments in accordance with the terms of its promissory note due to the Company on the theory that the break-up fee associated with the agreement to acquire In Good Health excused such additional payments. The Company vehemently disagrees with this assertion. The Company has requested permission from the court to file an amended complaint to accelerate the due date of all remaining accounts under the IGH Note and receive default interest as a result of In Good Health's breach of the promissory note, as well as to add a fraud count to the complaint.

Retail Results

The Company's Las Vegas retail storefront, Oasis Cannabis Dispensary, continued to achieve strong results through the third quarter of fiscal 2021, despite a continued year-over-year reduction in tourism and anticipated seasonal slow-down. Throughout this period, the dispensary focused on lowering costs for consumers with aggressive promotional pricing to ensure accessibility of products despite the community's economic challenges. While instore capacity remains limited, Oasis has continued to drive strong traffic through all three modes of service - delivery, curbside pickup, and in-store shopping. Despite the storefront serving an average of 697 customers per day in this quarter, down from 803 customers per day for the same period in 2019-2020, the average transaction total rose by 49.8% year-over-year, from $35.97 to $53.90. Compared to the same quarterly period in fiscal 2020, Oasis revenue rose by 28.3%.

"The holiday shopping season does not typically apply to cannabis in the same regard as traditional retail," noted Oasis general manager Lissa Lawatsch. "Nevertheless, Oasis continued to draw its loyal, local customers throughout this quarter, and we kept cannabis accessible to our community while they focused on recuperating from the challenging year we all had. Tourism has also started to bounce back, and we're expecting to see a significant amount of travel to Las Vegas in the coming months."

Brand Building Successes

In the third quarter of fiscal 2021, the Company also strengthened its branded wholesale and manufacturing division, City Trees. In this period, the brand released 8 new products, including 3 limited batch concentrate products and 5 additions to its core product line. Revenue for the third fiscal quarter from third-party sales and toll-processing transactions through this division rose by 97.5% year-over-year. January 2021 represented the highest revenue month in the brand's history, with February 2021 representing the second highest. During the third fiscal quarter of 2021, the number of wholesale orders placed rose successively each month, increasing by 31.9% from December to January and by 11.3% from January to February. During this quarter, City Trees also maintained its position as the #1 selling tincture brand in Nevada, and rose to the #7 selling vape brand in the state for the quarter, up from #8 in the third quarter of fiscal 2020 with a 34.9% increase in the number of units sold at the retail level compared to the comparable period during fiscal 2020. The brand also held the #19 position in the dabbable concentrate category, with a 56.4% increase in retail sales over the same period of fiscal 2020.

"We've dramatically streamlined our processes and lowered our costs at City Trees, and have been able to produce truly excellent products thanks to our team and our strong relationships with renowned cultivators in Nevada," said City Trees general manager Jimmy Gabany. "Every month, we get closer to profitability – a remarkable feat in the one year that our extraction facility has been fully operational. The market for craft-with-a-conscience cannabis is expanding, and City Trees is primed to take on more market share as we continue to innovate, and we have the capacity to continue adding to this positive trajectory we're seeing at the start of our fourth quarter."

The Company began formally offering toll processing services through its City Trees extraction facility in January 2021 through a new division of City Trees - Trichome Harvest Company. To date, the Company has processed over 2,000 pounds of plant material through third party agreements, with an additional 4,000 pounds slated for extraction through the remainder of calendar year 2021. Through these services, continued product innovation, expansion within its existing markets, and introduction into new markets, CLS continues to build a strong foundation for long term growth, increased cash flow, and profitability.
