Quote

"Technology companies such as Wikileaf have been an underrepresented segment of the cannabis sector despite the potential for providing significant value with respect to price comparison, advertising, data analytics and more. As a publicly-traded company Wikileaf will ensure the right leadership is in place in an effort to drive shareholder value. These changes today reflect our commitment to strengthening corporate governance and to position the company for the next phase of growth, including an emphasis on monetization. Lastly, I would like to welcome Ian Rapsey to the Board. Ian's extensive experience at Auxly and Tweed will be a valuable addition to our board and will help guide Wikileaf in the emerging cannabis technology space."

-Connor Cruise, Chair of the Board, Wikileaf
