

SureNano Science will be Speaking at the 2022 CBD EXPO in Dallas, Texas

Vancouver, British Columbia--(Newsfile Corp. - March 30, 2022) - SURENANO SCIENCE LTD. (CSE: SURE) (the "Company" or "SureNano") is pleased to announce that it will be speaking at the Delta 8 Expo and Delta 9 Expo in partnership with the CBD Expo TOUR on March 30 to April 1, 2022, in Dallas, Texas at the Hyatt Regency in Downtown Dallas. The Company will be exhibiting at booth #145 by the Extraction Stage.

The event will bring together 80+ exhibitors presenting and sampling some of the latest Delta 8, Hemp-Derived Delta 9, and CBD products out in the market. Expected attendance at the B2B-focused show is expected to be over 3,000. Panel discussions will be held hourly on two days of the event discussing cannabinoid science, entrepreneurship, marketing, lifestyle medicine, neuroscience, and extraction equipment innovations.

Mark Scott, director of SureNano, will be speaking at the CBD Expo to a crowd of industry leaders in the extraction and purification of the federally legalized hemp industry. He will be presenting on the Extraction Stage at 12:30 PM on Thursday, March 31. He will be outlining the strategic value of nano emulsions, such as those that are made with our exceptional SureNano™ emulsifier, in creating sustainable margins and revenues in a time of widespread commoditization and price erosion for extractors.

Mr. Scott will be highlighting the surging consumer demand for products which feature attributes that can only be powered by nano emulsions. Attributes like being reliably fast-acting or having consistently predictable dosing. He will introduce the abundant opportunities for brand differentiation that can result from leveraging the commercial power of nano emulsions, and the importance to be first-to-market leaders in segments with excellent long-term potential that currently contain no competition at all.

About SureNano Science Ltd.:
